Notable Numbers

2 - Opponents to score on their first drive against Elon this year (Duke, Appalachian St.).

3 - Consecutive winning seasons for Elon, a first for the program since the move to Division I. The last three straight winning campaigns came from 1991-93. Elon has not had four consecutive winning seasons since the program ended nine straight years with a winning mark from 1980-88.

4 - TD passes from Scott Riddle against Appalachian State which tied a career-high.

9 - Wins for Elon in 2009, the most for the program since 1999.

21 - Career 300+ yard passing games for Scott Riddle, a SoCon record.

12,009 - Career passing yards for Scott Riddle, the active leader at the FCS level and the SoCon record-holder.

SoCon Showing Support for Gulf Coast

Southern Conference football teams will show their support for those being impacted along the Gulf Coast by wearing helmet decals with the initials "GC" during the 2010 football season. More than 170 SoCon football players come from states that share a coastline being affected by the oil spill. The nine institutions that play SoCon football agreed to display the decals to express their support and encouragement for the people living in the region.

Riddle on Payton Watch List

Senior quarterback Scott Riddle was named as one of the 20 members of the preseason watch list for the Walter Payton Award which is presented annually to the top offensive player at the FCS level.

Elite Company

Quarterback Scott Riddle has led the league in passing yards in each of his first three seasons in the league. No player has ever led the SoCon in passing for four consecutive years. Marshall's Michael Payton (1990-92) is the only other player to have led the league in passing for three straight seasons.

Mellette Making His Mark

Just six games into his sophomore season, Aaron Mellette is already etching his name into the Elon record book. Mellette's 53 receptions for 670 yards and nine touchdowns all rank among the top-10 on the program's single-season charts at the FCS level. The 53 grabs rate seventh, the 670 receiving yards also rank seventh and the nine total TDs are tied for fifth while nine receiving TDs sit as the fourth-most.

Elon Players Honored

Following a 394-yard, four-touchdown passing performance against top-ranked Appalachian State, Elon quarterback Scott Riddle was named the SoCon Offensive Player of the Week by SouthernPigskin.com and honorable mention Quarterback of the Week by CollegeFootballPerformance.com. The later publication also recognized Elon wide receiver Aaron Mellette as an honorable mention selection for Wide Receiver of the Week. Mellette caught nine balls for 127 yards and a career-high three TDs in the game.

Pass it Along

Against Samford, Scott Riddle passed for 416 yards on 36 completions. The yardage marked the second-highest total of Riddle's career and ranks as the 16th-best passing yardage total in league history. The SoCon passing record of 534 yards is owned by Riddle and was accomplished at Furman on Nov. 3, 2007.

For his performance, Riddle was recognized as the SoCon X-Factor of the Week by SouthernPigskin.com and as both the National Performer of the Week and National Quarterback of the Week by CollegeFootballPerformance.com.

Riddle Grabs Another SoCon Record

With a 10-yard completion to Brandon Newsome in the first quarter against Shaw, Scott Riddle became the all-time leading passer in the history of the Southern Conference. The gain gave Riddle the edge over Appalachian State's Armanti Edwards who passed for 10,392 yards from 2006-2009. Riddle ended the night with 244 yards. His performance earned him the title of SoCon X-Factor of the Week from SouthernPigskin.com.

Elon's Streak Snapped at GSU

Elon was looking to become just the second SoCon team to ever win four consecutive league games against Georgia Southern, but came up short in a 38-21 defeat in Statesboro in week four. Marshall is the only team to have beaten GSU four consecutive seasons (1993-96).

Breakout for Mellette

Sophomore receiver Aaron Mellette had a career night in Elon's victory over Shaw. Mellette had personal-bests with nine catches, 120 receiving yards and two TD grabs. It was the first 100-yard game of Mellette's career.

More on Mellette

Mellette followed his performance versus Shaw by setting an Elon record with 18 receptions at Richmond. He ended that game with 195 receiving yards and another two TD grabs, including one as time expired to force overtime.

For his efforts at Richmond, Mellette was named the SoCon Offensive Player of the Week by SouthernPigskin.com, the national wide receiver of the week by College Football Performance Awards and a College Sporting News All-Star.

The Stopper and POW Awards

Senior linebacker Brandon Wiggins tied a career-high with 19 tackles in Elon's loss at Duke. Wiggins also tallied 19 stops at The Citadel on Nov. 10, 2007. The performance moved Wiggins into 10th-place on Elon's career total tackles chart with 253. He now has 294 tackles to rank sixth in program history and second in Elon's time at the NCAA Division I level. He is 15 stops shy of moving into a tie for fifth with Chris Worst (1978-81).

For his efforts, Wiggins collected his first-career SoCon Defensive Player of the Week nod. SouthernPigskin.com also selected Wiggins as the league's defensive POW.

The TD Streak Continues

With just 40 seconds remaining in Elon's game at Duke, Scott Riddle found Kierre Brown for a 30-yard touchdown strike. It was the only TD pass of the game for Riddle who has thrown at least one touchdown in 35 of his 36 career games. The only time he failed to connect on a touchdown pass came on Nov. 22, 2008 in the season finale at Liberty. Through six games this season, Riddle has thrown at least one TD pass in 18 consecutive games.

Retiring #19 Jersey

Prior to the game against Samford, Elon honored the accomplishments of former standout wide receiver Terrell Hudgins with the retirement of his #19 jersey. In his time with the Phoenix, Hudgins set 19 NCAA, SoCon or Elon records. He is the all-time NCAA Division I leader in career receiving yards (5,250), career receptions (395), career 100-yard receiving games (28) and career 1,000-yard receiving seasons (4).

Nesting at Home

Now in the 89th year of Elon's program history, the Phoenix owns an all-time record of 473-390-18 (.547) – including a sizzling 176-84-3 (.674) in 52 seasons of home games at Burlington Memorial Stadium and a mark of 27-26 (.509) in its current home at Rhodes Stadium. The 2010 campaign marks the 10th-year of operations at Elon's on-campus home.

Elon vs. FBS Opponents

Elon's Sept. 4 game at Duke marked just the third time that Elon has taken on a Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) opponent. The first was a 28-13 loss at South Florida to open the 2007 season. USF would later peak at #2 in the FBS polls. Last year, Elon dropped a 35-7 decision at Wake Forest.

Elon is slated to take on Vanderbilt (2011) and Georgia Tech (2013) in coming seasons.

Birthday Boys

Senior quarterback Scott Riddle celebrated his 22nd birthday on on Sept. 4, the same day Elon opened the season against Duke. Riddle completed 22 passes for 281 yards and one touchdown while rushing for 16 yards and a score on the day.

Riddle is one of three Elon players whose birthday falls on a game day in 2010. The others are freshman defensive lineman Dustin Ruff (Oct. 2) and red-shirt freshman offensive lineman Dennis Wagner (Oct. 23).

Top-10 Performance

For the first time at the NCAA Division I level, the Phoenix program concluded the season with a top-10 ranking. Elon finished the year rated ninth in The Sports Network top-15 and 10th in the FCS coaches rankings.

Consistently Ranked

Until this week, the Elon football team had been ranked in every poll issued by The Sports Network since Oct. 18, 2007 – a span of 40 polls. The Phoenix is currently second among the others receiving votes.

Our First Time

Elon's inclusion in the 2009 FCS playoff field marked the first time since the program moved to Division I in which Elon has earned a bid. Elon came close to a berth in 1999 when the team finished 9-2.

High-Flying Offense

The Phoenix offense rated sixth nationally in passing offense in 2009, averaging 291.50 yards per game. Elon's rushing attack ranked 59th nationally, putting up 133.42 yards per game. In total offense, the Phoenix rated 11th with 424.92 yards per game. Elon's 30.42 points per outing rated it as the number 23 scoring offense in the country.

So far in 2010, Elon has averaged 442.17 yards of offense per game.

We Play Defense Too

Elon's defense ended the 2009 year ranked fourth in the nation in total defense, allowing just 248.33 yards per game. The defensive unit also ranked in the top-10 nationally in scoring defense (3rd), pass defense (5th), pass efficiency defense (6th) and sacks (8th).

A Tough Start

The Phoenix allowed just one 2009 opponent to score on its opening drive of the game. Chattanooga connected on a 27-yard field goal on Oct. 24. Only four opponents did not go three-and-out on their first possession of the game – Chattanooga, Western Carolina, Appalachian State and Richmond.

Duke and Appalachian State are the only teams to have scored on its first possession against the Phoenix this season.

Oh Captain, My Captain

Quarterback Scott Riddle, offensive lineman John Rubertone and linebacker Brandon Wiggins were elected as team captains for the 2010 Phoenix football campaign. All three are seniors.

Riddle became the first quarterback in Southern Conference history to eclipse the 10,000-yard passing mark, doing so during the 2009 season. He entered his final year with 10,033 career passing yards. A three-time second-team All-

Southern Conference selection by the league's coaches, Riddle collected the squad's Top Offensive Back award last year. Riddle threw for 3,345 yards and 23 touchdowns as a junior, rating seventh in the country with 278.75 passing yards per outing and 13th in the nation with 287.67 yards of total offense per game.

Rubertone has started 32 contests in his career while helping to anchor the Elon offensive line. His play helped the Phoenix to average 133.42 yards per game on the ground in 2009 and kept defenders out of the backfield as Elon threw for a league-leading 291.50 yards per game, which rated sixth in the nation.

Wiggins finished third on the squad in 2009 with 71 total tackles, a season-high 13 of which came in Elon's FCS Playoff game at Richmond. During his career in the maroon and gold, Wiggins has played in 37 games and has amassed 294 total tackles which rank as the sixth-highest total in the history of the program. He also has 12.0 tackles for a loss and 2.5 sacks for his career.

A Family Affair

Senior offensive lineman Corey O'Shea has a family connection within Elon athletics. His sister, Erin, is a junior pitcher on the Phoenix softball team which claimed the 2010 SoCon Tournament crown. In her sophomore season, Erin went 17-10 with a 2.78 ERA in 166.0 innings pitched.

The team also boasts a set of brothers in junior running back A.J. Harris and sophomore wide receiver Chris Harris.

10 in Rhodes

The 2009 campaign marks the 10th season in Elon's on-campus stadium. True to its nickname, the Phoenix has risen to prominence at the FCS level during its tenure in its home venue.

Elon played its first game in Rhodes Stadium on Sept. 22, 2001 against North Carolina A&T, falling 23-7 to the Aggies. The Phoenix's first victory in the stadium came the next week, when Elon knocked off Gardner-Webb 27-14.

Pete Lembo was announced as Elon University's 19th head football coach in December of 2005 after serving the previous five years as the head coach at Lehigh University.

Lembo guided Elon through its 88th football season as well as its 11th campaign as an official NCAA Football Championship Subdivision (FCS) member and sixth in the Southern Conference in 2009. Under Lembo's leadership, the Phoenix went 9-3 last year and earned the program's first-ever FCS playoff berth.

During his four seasons at the helm of the Elon program, Lembo has taken the Phoenix from the bottom of the SoCon standings to a championship contender and top-25 program in the FCS national polls. Lembo has rejuvenated the Phoenix football program while building support and bringing energy to the entire Elon community.

"Pete Lembo and his staff have quickly instilled excitement into our football program — on the Elon campus and around the Elon and Burlington area communities," said Elon Director of Athletics Dave Blank. "Under Coach Lembo and his staff, our program has reached the level of a national ranking at the FCS level. They have not only provided our football student-athletes with the guidance necessary to become Southern Conference and FCS contenders on the field of competition, but also inspired them to become the best they can be in the classroom and in the community as well."

Off the field, the program has made noticeable improvements in the areas of academic progress, recruiting, alumni relations, home game attendance, scheduling, community outreach and fundraising under Lembo's guidance.

Lembo's career record of 73-31 (.702) makes him one of the top active coaches at the Division I FCS level in terms of overall winning percentage. Lembo is one of just a handful of Division I head coaches who have been named the "Coach of the Year" in two separate conferences.

This past season Lembo guided Elon to its best finish in a decade as the Phoenix went 9-3, winning nine games for just the second time in its 11-year Division I history. Elon's regular-season performance earned the squad its first-ever FCS playoff berth and the Phoenix finished the season ranked in the top-10 in both The Sports Network and FCS coaches polls where Elon ranked ninth and 10th, respectively. The Phoenix also improved upon its SoCon standing from the previous season, going 7-1 to place second in the league, its highest-ever conference finish. With its finish, the Phoenix saw a program-best 14 players collect

All-SoCon accolades from the league's coaches. Lembo placed eighth in the voting for the 2009 Eddie Robinson Award which is presented to the top FCS coach in the country.

During the 2009 campaign, Lembo watched his senior wide receiver Terrell Hudgins rewrite record books. Hudgins concluded his career in the maroon and gold as the holder of 19 NCAA, SoCon or Elon records. Among the numerous marks set by Hudgins were the NCAA Division I records for career receptions (395), career receiving yards (5,250), career games with at least 100 receiving yards (28) and career 1,000-yard receiving seasons (4). Hudgins placed second in the voting for the 2009 Walter Payton Award which is handed out to the top FCS offensive player of the season.

Under Lembo, the 2008 edition of the Phoenix finished with an 8-4 overall mark, posting back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since the 1999 and 2000 campaigns. Elon also notched a SoCon ledger of 6-2 to finish in third place in the league. Ranked among the nation's top-25 programs in both The Sports Network and FCS Coaches polls all season long, the Phoenix peaked at number three in late October before finishing the year rated as high as 17th in the country.

Lembo's squad earned victories over three top-25 programs in 2008 — Georgia Southern, Furman and The Citadel. Also of note were the records set during the season. In 2008, quarterback Scott Riddle became the program's all-time career leader in completions (609), passing attempts (935), passing yards (6,688), touchdown passes (55), touchdowns responsible (65) and total offensive yards (6,615). He also established a SoCon career mark with 22 consecutive games throwing a touchdown pass. Receiver Terrell Hudgins became the all-time leader for both Elon and the SoCon in receptions (272), touchdown catches (36) and receiving yards (3,617) while also establishing a SoCon record with 18 games with at least 100 receiving yards. Kicker Andrew Wilcox finished his career as the school's all-time leader in both field goals made (59) and PAT kicks made (130).

In 2007, Lembo's squad posted the program's most victories in seven years, finishing the campaign with a 7-4 overall mark. Elon's 4-3 SoCon ledger, its first winning-league mark, tied the team for third in the league. The Phoenix appeared in the national polls throughout the year, finishing the season ranked 23rd in both The Sports Network and FCS Coaches polls. Elon picked up victories over top-25 ranked teams in Wofford and Georgia Southern while also knocking off Big South champion Liberty. For his efforts, Lembo was honored as the Southern Conference Coach of the Year and finished sixth in the voting for the Eddie Robinson Award.

Lembo's 2007 team set numerous Elon, Southern Conference and NCAA records. Among those were the NCAA single-season record for receptions by two teammates. Michael Mayers and Hudgins combined for 207 catches, surpassing the previous mark held by Jerry Rice and Joe Thomas of Mississippi Valley State. Riddle established an Elon single-season and NCAA freshman record for total offense at 3,738 yards while setting a new SoCon and NCAA freshman standard for total offense average at 347.0 yards per game. Elon's offense rated second nationally in passing offense and 10th in scoring offense in 2007.

That same year, five different Phoenix players claimed All-SoCon accolades while Hudgins was also among those receiving votes for the Walter Payton Award. Riddle was named National Freshman of the Year and SoCon Freshman of the Year.

In his first year at Elon, Lembo made an immediate impact as the Phoenix finished the 2006 season with a 5-6 mark, two victories more than the previous season. Elon also knocked off a top-25 opponent for the first time in six years, led the league in passing offense and had two All-Americans.

Prior to coming to Elon, Lembo spent eight years at Lehigh, serving the Mountain Hawks as an assistant coach for three seasons (recruiting coordinator in 1998-2000, running back coach in 1998-99 and offensive line coach in 2000) before taking over as head coach for the 2001 campaign. Each of those eight squads ended up ranked among the country's top-25 teams and won at least eight games. Those teams also claimed two Patriot League titles.

Lehigh concluded the 2005 campaign with an 8-3 overall record and a 4-2 mark against Patriot League opposition on its way to a No. 22 ranking in The Sports Network's final regular-season poll. The Mountain Hawks were one of only two programs in NCAA-IAA (along with Montana) to have won eight or more games in each of the eight years during that span.

Also in 2005, eight Mountain Hawks were named to the first team All-Patriot League. In all, 11 Lehigh players earned all-league recognition — the fourth straight season in which Lehigh placed at least 10 members on the teams.

During Lembo's tenure as its head coach, Lehigh posted an undefeated regular season, won its first-ever home playoff victory, claimed its first Lambert Cup trophy since 1980 and picked up its first win over an NCAA-IA opponent since 1987 while capturing two Patriot League championships.

The Mountain Hawks consistently hovered in the NCAA-IAA top-25, peaking as high as No. 2 in September 2002. No team in all of NCAA-IAA fashioned a better winning percentage during Lembo's tenure with the Mountain Hawks than Lehigh (.813 at 78-18). The 78 wins over that span rank third behind Georgia Southern (87) and Montana (85).

Lembo arrived on South Mountain in the summer of 1998 when he was hired by former head coach Kevin Higgins as running backs coach and recruiting coordinator. That fall, the Mountain Hawks went 12-1 and ended the year ranked 14th in the nation.

After Lehigh completed the 1999 season with a 10-2 slate, Lembo was promoted to assistant head coach and offensive line coach in addition to his recruiting coordinator duties. When Higgins left to become an assistant with the Detroit Lions after the successful 2000 campaign, Lembo quickly became the 27th head coach in the history of the program.

Lembo proved to be ready for the challenge as his 2001 team went 11-1, finishing No. 5 in both NCAA-IAA polls. The rookie coach was named both the Patriot League Coach of the Year and the Eddie Robinson National Coach of the Year while Lehigh became the first I-AA need-based scholarship program to ever win the prestigious Lambert Cup.

Lembo's gritty 2002 and 2003 teams posted back-to-back eight-victory records despite an upgraded schedule that included two I-A opponents. In both seasons, the Mountain Hawks knocked off league rival Fordham when the Rams also ranked among the top-25. In 2003, the Mountain Hawks posted a 6-1 league mark with an average margin of victory of over 21 points. Lehigh's sole league loss was a tough seven-point decision on the road at Colgate, the eventual national runner-up.

The 2004 edition of the Mountain Hawks surprised many by posting a nine-win season and a 5-1 conference record en route to a share of a Patriot League title and an at-large berth in the NCAA playoffs. Though Lehigh lost a heartbreaking 14-13 game to eventual national champion James Madison at Goodman Stadium, the fact that the Mountain Hawks garnered an at-large bid and a home playoff game speaks to the level of respect the program had earned.

The aggressive scheduling policy instituted by Lembo made for increased excitement among NCAA-IAA football fans in the East. Not only did the Mountain Hawks begin to regularly take on an I-A opponent each season, but Lehigh also renewed rivalries with traditional I-AA powerhouses Villanova (in 2004) and Delaware (in 2005), among others.

Off the field, Lembo was hard at work to improve the student-athletes' bond with one another. He established a leadership council that consisted of four team members from each class. The council helped to resolve issues within the team and increased communication between the team and the coaching staff.

Lembo also improved alumni relations through a weekly email newsletter. He did quite a bit of traveling to meet with alumni in outlying areas as well as in the Lehigh Valley. During his last three years at Lehigh, Lembo was the featured speaker on the Lehigh Alumni Association's Midwest Swing, speaking in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago.

In the classroom, the program prided itself on producing not only great football players, but also true scholars. In 2003, wide receiver Dave Crockett was named to the Division I-AA Athletics Directors Academic All-Star Team, the second-straight year a Lehigh football player earned such a distinguished honor.

In 2002, strong safety Matt Salvaterra earned similar recognition while also being lauded as the Patriot League's Scholar-Athlete of the Year in all sports. In 2001, four student-athletes received honors as Verizon Academic All-District Selections. Lehigh had been ranked in the nation's top-20 in graduation rates for 18 consecutive years.

Not only had Lembo made an impact at Lehigh, but he had become quite active in the football coaching community as well. In May of 2003, Lembo was asked to serve on the American Football Coaches Association's (AFCA) Public Relations Committee. That group is responsible for finding new ways to showcase the game in a positive light. Lembo concluded his fifth year as a member of the FCS Executive Committee, serving as president in 2006-07.

Lembo came to Lehigh from Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia, where he served as the team's offensive coordinator, offensive line coach and recruiting coordinator. Prior to his stint with Hampden-Sydney, Lembo coached the tight ends and offensive tackles at Dartmouth College.

During this period, Dartmouth enjoyed outstanding success, including the nation's longest unbeaten streak in Division I-AA and an undefeated Ivy League Championship season in 1996. Several members of that Dartmouth staff have continued outstanding careers at other institutions.

Lembo began his career as a graduate assistant for two years under at the University at Albany. He coached the offensive line and earned a master's degree in public administration from the Rockefeller School of Public Affairs in 1994.

As an undergraduate at Georgetown University from 1988-1992, Lembo was a four-year starter and team captain as an offensive lineman. As a senior, he received the Coaches' Award for outstanding leadership from Georgetown Athletics.

Lembo earned his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Georgetown in 1992. He is married to the former Jenifer Kochis. They are the parents of Sophia, A.J. and Victoria.
